GIVES GROUND TO CAILLAUX

BUT AMERRICANS FAAIL TO SATISFY FRENCH COMMISSION.

CRISIS IS NEARING

Senators are Called in to Discuss Reparations Problem——Delegation Calls on Curtis, G. O. P. Leader.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Further concessions were made to the French today by the American debt commission but apparently they did not go far enough to bring about an agreement on the terms under which France is to settle her four-billion-dollar war debt to the United States.

After a lengthy session spent in discussing the size of the annual payments and the "protective clause," which the French delegates insist upon, today's meeting was adjourned until late this afternoon when the negotiations will be resumed.

Washington, Sept. 30.— As the French and American debt commissions met today in what may be the deciding session of the negotiations, apparently strenuous efforts were being made to win the Senate's approval to a program calling for more leniency to France in the matter of terms.

On the heels of a visit paid to Senator Curtis, the Republican leader of the Senate, by a delegation of French commissioners with a plea for leniency, President Coolidge summoned Senator Borah, Republican of Idaho, to the White House and discussed the debt controversy from all angles. The President found Senator Borah unchanged in his position that France could and should settle on terms approaching those extended to Great Britain and the other debtor nations.

Simmons of Parnell Files Attachment Suit

An attachment suit was filed in circuit court yesterday afternoon by Guy Simmons and Goldie Simmons of Parnell, doing business as Parnell Cash Store, against Nate Logan and Myrtle Logan. The suit was filed on the claim that the defendants have failed to pay any part of a note given for $54 on April 5, 1920, and the plaintiffs are suing for principal, interest at 8 per cent, $25 attorney fees and costs.

ALEY TO HEAD H. S. STUDENTS

ELECTED PRESIDENT AT SPECIAL ASSEMBLY.

DON GOFORTH IS V.-P.

High School Student Officers

President—Donald Aley
Vice-President—Donald Goforth
Secretary—Willis Wamsley
Yell Leader—Forest Howland
Assistant Yell Leaders—Ruth Bush and Graham Malotte

Donald Aley, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Aley of this city, was elected president of the student body of the Maryville High School at an election held late yesterday afternoon in a special assembly. The officers will serve until May, 1926. Each officer of the association is a representative student of the school and will direct matters concerning the student body consultation with the members of the faculty.

The new president is known to the students as "Chick" and as a good mixer. There is no student who doesn't know the name of "Chick" Aley and there is no student whom the president does not know with the exception of a few new entries this fall. This will be the duty that will confront the newly-elected officers, to get acquainted. All last year Aley was the yell leader, who put the pep into the athletic games. He serves as president of the advanced senior class, is a member of the Hi-Y Club, the History Club and the Chorus.

Donald Goforth, the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Goforth, was the choice for vice-president. Mr. Goforth held the same office last year and so the result was a re-election. He is assistant director of the high school band and a member of several organizations.

Willis Wamsley, assistant editor of the "Maryvillian" holds the office of secretary. Mr. Wamsley is also president of the Claytonian Literary Society.

Forest Howland, assistant yell leader last year will be the chief one this year and it will be the duty of "Dingy" with the help of Graham Molotte and Ruth Bush, his two assistants, to keep up the "pep" of the student body.

The election added much enthusiasm among the students and there was some mighty close races for the various offices. For president there were three nominees: Donald Aley, Donald Goforth, and Gertrude Wray; for vice-president: Donald Goforth and Carl King; for Secretary: Willis Wamsley and Edwyna Forsyth; Chief Yell Leader: Forest Howland, Louise Logan and Lucille Snyder; Assistant Yell Leaders: Graham Malotte, Ruth Bush, Louise Logan, Lucille Snyder and Ralph Hotchkin.

The results of the election has pleased the students in general and the school administration feels the organization complete.

ATTENDANCE IS CUT DOWN

THREATENING CLOUDS LESSEN FALL FESTIVAL CROWDS.

ANOTHER FREE ACT

A sixteenth-hundredths inch rain during the early morning hours and low, black threatening clouds all day accompanied by a drop in temperature, put a damper on the attendance of the third day of the Annual Maryville Fall Festival. In spite of all this the Festival Committee was undaunted, starting out the afternoon's program promptly at 2:30 o'clock. The addition of another free act crammed the free entertainment feature program with thrilling acts every half hour.

A fairly good crowd turned out last night under clear skies and a nearly full moon to enjoy the evening's fun and frolic, the last of the stragglers turning heel for home close to midnight.

The World's Famous Flying Floyds arrived in Maryville last night and directed the erection of their trapeze apparatus on West Fifth street on the south side of the Barmann Automobile Co. The Flying Floyds will give two free acts each day, the first one at 4 o'clock in the afternoon and the other at 9 o'clock at night.

The Flying Floyds is a company of three aerobats, featuring a lady catcher. This company was with the Ringling Brothers Circus for twelve years and just arrived in Maryville from Chicago. This company has played every state fair in the country and assure their audiences that they will give many thrills and feats of skill from their high trapezes.

The 75-foot steel pole, on which Cliff Curran does his hazardous balancing stunts, which was located in the street immediately west of the Elks club on Main street, fell to the ground sometime after 1:30 o'clock this morning. The pole fell to the east, missing the Elks building by barely two feet. It was slightly bent and after examination this morning Mr. Curran said the lower joint was cracked.

The report is current that a man driving an automobile late last night, drove through the ropes on Main street at Second street, which were there for the purpose of keeping traffic off this block, ran into two of the stakes holding the guy wires to the pole, snapping off the stakes, which let the pole sway to the east and finally crash to the ground. Although the name of the person is not known, he is reported to have been intoxicated and drove his car into the mule barn on East Second street, into an automobile and then on to Main street at Second. A reward of $50 is offered by Frank G. Shoemaker for anyone who identifies the person who ran into the guy rope stakes.

Mr. Curran was quite rightly indig-

Five Thousand Feet From Death.

The survivors of the wrecked dirigible Shenandoah share in an experience which has come to no other living men on the planet. In all the stories which were printed at the time of the disaster, none carried the signed, authentic experiences of the men, giving exact details of their emotions when in a sudden blinding instant they found themselves five thousand feet from death. Three vivid personal narratives, written by men who survived this terrifying experience, will start in the Daily Democrat-Forum and Tribune tomorrow.

MANY THRILLS IN PLANE TRIP

IN BIG RAIN STORM

Downpour Near Savannah—Corn Fields Look Like Tiny Squares Far Below.

One taking an airplane ride for the first time expects a thrill and generally gets it, especially if the uninitiated plane-passenger is in the midst of a terrible rain storm and cannot see ten feet ahead of him.

A J-1 standard plane owned by the Meister Aviation Co., of St. Joseph, and piloted by Lieut. M. E. Durham, made a flight to Savannah this morning. The other passengers in the plane were F. B. Wichmer, chief mechanic, and a Democrat-Forum and Tribune reporter.

The sensation one gets during the "take-off," or when the plane first leaves the ground, is perhaps the most impressive of all. It is comparable, to a certain extent at least, to the thrill of the first ride in a large ferris wheel. But in the latter instance, one knows that he is going right back to the ground safely while the passenger in a plane quickly realizes that it is only the beginning of a new experience.

Rising higher, higher, higher, the earth seems to drop suddenly and within a few seconds is spread out like a large map below. Cornfields appear like tiny brown squares, perfectly formed, and the farm houses and barns like small boxes.

A freight train on the Burlington this morning seemed to creep along and resembled a slow-moving snake.

Town Like Checker Board

Above the almost deafening din of the motor, the pilot yelled and pointed below. There, spread out like a minature checker board, was the town of Bolckow. The people on the streets could hardly be distinguished and appeared like small specks far below.

Heading straight towards St. Joseph, the plane rose rapidly and soon was above the clouds. On all sides the fluffy banks, like huge piles of thick smoke, hid the sun from view. Descending slowly, one could see the horses, which looked like pigs, scampering away as they heard the roar of the engine above them.

A short distance south of Savannah, the plane was in the midst of a rainstorm and the downpour looked as if it were a cloudburst. One could not see ten feet in front of him and it was impossible to tell in which direction the plane was moving.

The ship turned around quickly and furnished the passengers with another thrill. Racing ahead of the storm, the plane soon attained a speed of a hundred miles an hour, but if one looked directly below him, it would be difficult to know if he were moving at all. Glancing to one side, however, the distant hills and trees passed quickly in review.

Maryville Looks Good.

Soon Maryville came into sight and without any exceptions, it was the best-looking town the writer has seen for a long, long time. A flight was made over town at an altitude of approximately 3,000 feet. Then the plane headed east, slowly descended, and smoothly glided to earth near the city water plant.

The plane is equipped with a Curtis OXX-6 engine, 110 horse-power. Lieutenant Durham was an instructor in aviation at Kelly Field, San Antonio, Tex., during the war. He has had a number of years experience in aviation and is considered one of the best pilots in commercial flying today.

To Take Passengers Up.

During the Fall Festival here, Lieutenant Durham will take passengers up for a sight-seeing trip over the city and surrounding country. The flying field is located on the Ravenwood road near the city water plant.

La Follette Elected by 150,000 Majority

"Young Bob" Carries Every County In State Except One In His Race For United States Senator.

Madison, Wisc., Sept. 30.—Robert M. LaFollette, Jr., carried every county in Wisconsin but Rock, in his race for United States Senator and was elected by a majority of approximately 150,000 over his nearest opponent, Edward F. Dithmar, practically complete returns indicated today.

Reports from 2,450 precincts out of the state's 2,691 gave LaFollette 251,602 votes against 98,050 for Dithmar.

The missing 241 precincts are in out-of-the-way places, sparsely settled.

When he takes his seat next December, La Follette, who only recently turned his thirtieth birthday, the required age for admission, will become the youngest United States Senator since Henry Clay.

PLANE LOST IN THIS SECTION

DUTCH PLANE IS FIRST

Municipal Flying Field At St. Joseph Is Dedicated Under Direction of American Legion Post.

St. Joseph, Sept. 30.—Lost somewhere in Northwest Missouri the Junker plane in the Ford Reliability Tour is believed to have come down because of engine trouble. There were five passengers in the plane piloted by H. Neldhiar of Malmoe, Sweden, pilot in the Swedish roral air mail service, making his first American flight since landing in this country two weeks ago.

No definite reports have been received here by Carl Wolfley, governor-at-large of the National Aeronautic Association, as to where the plane came down. Telephone messages to various towns in Northwest Missouri brought no word.

The International News correspondent at Rock Port said two planes flew low over that city today.

Wolfley believes the plane came down about thirty miles northwest of St. Joseph.

St. Joseph, Sept. 30.—The giant Fokker monoplane, with Anthony Fokker, the Dutch designer, at the sticks, arrived here shortly before 11 o'clock this morning, the first plane of the Ford reliability tour to land.

The other fifteen landed shortly thereafter.

The flight from Ft. Crook, Neb., near Omaha, was made in about two hours.

About fifty aviators, who are competing for the Edsel Ford trophy, were entertained at a luncheon at noon by the St. Joseph chapter of the National Aeronautic Association. Anthony Fokker, the Dutch designer, who is competing for the trophy, was one of the speakers. Carl H. Wolfley, governor-at-large of the National Aeronautic Association, is in charge of the entertainment for the flyers.

Before the airmen arrived, the new Rosecrans municipal field, north of St. Joseph, was dedicated by the Ross Dagger post of the American Legion. The field was accepted by the city by Mayor Henry Grosser.

Shortly after the flyers started arriving, a heavy rain set in, and although the field was a bit soggy, there were no mishaps. It is possible, however, that unless the sky clears, the trip to Kansas City, scheduled for 3 o'clock this afternoon, will be postponed until tomorrow morning.

Despite the unpleasant weather, a large crowd was on hand to greet the flyers. The crowd was estimated at 3,000.

Mitchell Blames Navy for Fate Shenandoah

Former Air Chief Springs Sensation Before Air Board—Also for Failure PN-9 Flight.

Washington, Sept. 30.—Colonel William Mitchell sprang a sensation before the President's air board today by directly blaming the Navy Department for the Shenandoah disaster and the fate of the navy seaplane PN-9 flight. The sending of the dirigible across the mountains was in direct violation of the law, while the management of unsuccessful flight of the seaplane across Pacific waters was "the work of bungling amateurs," it is regarded by Colonel Mitchell.

RESCUE WORK IS ABANDONED

HOPES DASHED FOR ANY SURVIVORS IN SUBMARINE.

WILL "SALVAGE NOW"

Admiral Christe Reports That It Is "Improbable That Any Rooms In Submarine Are In Tact."

Washington, Sept. 30.—Virtually all hope that the thirty-three officers and men who went down with the submarine S-51 are still alive was officially abandoned by officers at the navy department this afternoon following the receipt of a lengthy report from Rear Admiral H. H. Christe, who has been directing rescue operations off Block Island.

"It is almost improbable that any of the rooms in the submarine are in tact," Admiral Christe reported, "and it is believed the rescue of any of the survivors of the S-51 must now be conceded as impossible."

Consequently, Admiral Christe recommended to the department that "rescue" operations be now changed to "salvaging" operations.

The significance of this recommendation dashed the last remaining hope in the department that there will be any survivors of the S-51 crash, other than the three already saved.

New London, Conn., Sept. 30—All operations at the scene of the ill-fated submarine S-51 were abandoned at 8 o'clock this morning.

The announcement was made at the local navy station nearly 108 hours after the submarine plunged to the bottom of the ocean with nearly all on board. Only three survivors were rescued after the crash with the S. S. City of Rome and of thirty-three men who plunged with the submarine, as yet only two bodies have been recovered.

The latest developments by which the first wrecking ships and then divers have retired from action, means that no hope is left that life exists aboard. Operations might be resumed but the local naval authorities were unable to say when. Everything is depending on the condition of the seas, and it was safe to predict that were the rescuers going to resume operations it will be with the intention of recovering what bodies might be run across in the water logged submarine.

Quake Cripples Wires at Oakland, Calif.

No Damage Reported But Hundreds of Citizens Are Frightened—Tremor at Berkley, Also.

Oakland, Calif., Sept. 30.—A strong earthquake rocked the city at 7 o'clock this morning, paralyzing telephone service throughout the city for ten minutes. No damage is reported.

The shock is believed to have been caused by a terrific blast. Thousands of people swarmed the streets and after telephone service was resumed hundreds of calls were received by newspapers from frightened citizens.

The shock was felt in Berkley and east bay cities. It was not felt in San Francisco. In Berkley the tremor is declared to have extended for only a short duration.

THE VACATION DELUSION.

Another popular theory has been exposed as a delusion. A French writer vehemently refutes the common supposition that the way to rest is to do something else, to spend a day or a week doing anything that one does not do the rest of the year. This, he says, is only "getting tired another way."

Instead of a theater or a dance after a day of toil, this investigator into the causes and remedies for fatigue recommends repose, sleep, solitude, quiet and inertia. The rest cure he advocates for the tired business man is not golf, motoring, a sea voyage or two weeks at a short resort. For such, if they really desire rest and recuperation and not merely a vacation, he prescribes a retreat far from the crowd, devoid of activity, the society of others and other disturbing influences.

Of course he is right. And the truth of the matter is that his theory has always been put to practical use. People who go away to rest don't delude themselves into thinking they obtain that needed reconstruction of mind and body by participating in sports and mingling with the mob. They seek out some quiet nook and strive with as little effort as possible to see, hear, speak and do as little as possible.

Most people nowdays use their vacation for some strenuous, sight-seeing, motor driving or some other hardship. The vacation is no longer used as a rest-cure. If there was ever a time when people went on vacations to rest after their labors it is now. They now return from their vacations to rest after their labors.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Senator Curtis has succeeded finally in throwing a real scare into the Washington bureaucracies.

Talk about abolishing some of them, consolidating others, cutting down their personnels to a business basis and eliminating a lot of the waste that most of them have been responsible for has been going on ever since the war.

It hasn't worried them much. So long as congressional action was necessary to trim them in size and reduce them in number, it was pretty clear to the bureaucrats themselves, as well as to others, that they were in little danger.

Senators and congressmen, hardly necessary to say, have found places in these bureaus very handy to pass out to political henchmen and henchwomen. Naturally they don't like to see an end put to this patronage.

For one thing, losing it will cramp them in future. For another thing, each little bureaucrat whose job is abolished will blame his particular congressman for it, and so will his friends, and it may make a difference to the congressman himself when the next election day rolls around.

In a general way a majority of the lawmakers recognize that the government is "over-bureaued."

But when it comes to putting the Indian sign on some one particular bureau, all those who have a personal interest in it object strenuously.

"We need consolidation and reduction," they agree, "but not in this spot. This bureau's essential. Let's economize elsewhere."

Each lawmaker is also aware that if he votes to abolish some other lawmaker's pet bureau, the latter will vote to abolish his pet. That's why the bureaucrats remain so care-free while nobody yet but Congress discusses retrenchment.

Now, however, comes Curtis with the announcement that he intends to introduce a bill giving blanket authority to the president to do all executive reorganizing, consolidating, readjusting and reducing as he sees fit. Congress indorsing whatever he does in advance, and letting it go at that.

The bulk of the senators and representatives won't like this, but it's a plan they will find it very difficult to reject, inasmuch as they admit a reshuffle of the executive sub-divisions is badly needed, and everybody can see that they themselves are unable to do anything about it.

TOM SIMS SAYS

Women may be slaves to fashion. But, in summer, their burden's are very light.

A family tree isn't worth a darn unless it produces peaches.

Comfort is great stuff. We can't see why hens expecting to set don't lay flat eggs.

When a man starts out to raise a nice quiet family he finds that he must raise a rough house now and then.

A man can't understand why a woman can't understand why he can't understand.

The world could be worse, much worse. It could be almost as bad as we often think it is.

Dawes Played Flute in Democratic Parade

Portland, Ore., Sept. 30. (United Press).—Vice President Charles G. Dawes was at one time employed by the Democratic party, according to revelations made here by W. G. Sibley, editor of the Chicago Journal of Commerce and lifelong friend of the general.

The cause of this seeming infidelity on the part of Dawes, his old friend says, was his love for music.

"This happened just after Charlie bought his first musical instrument—a tin flute, which cost him 35 cents," Sibley related.

"That was in the days of the old torch light parades. Both parties held their parades on the same night. Charlie's father was running for congress on the republican ticket, naturally, and it occurred to Charlie, who was about 14 years old then, that it would be a fine thing to head the parade with his tin flute, playing campaign airs.

"But the Republican committee wasn't interested. Charlie went to the Democrats and they jumped at the chance. So young Dawes came right down the street at the head of the procession, tooting for dear life and I tell you it caused a lot of commotion."

Marie Cook a Bride.

The wedding took place at 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon, September 26, at the Holy Name Cathedral in Chicago, Father Lucey officiating. For the last eighteen months the bride nas been employed by the F. E. Compton Company of Chicago. She is a graduate of St. Patrick's High School and is a former bookkeeper of the Yehle Dry Goods Company and the Townsend Wholesale Grocery Company. Mr. Roe is a senior at the School of Medicine of Northwestern University, and is a talented pianist. Mr. and Mrs. Roe are at home at 3446 5th avenue, Chicago.

LaVeta Awalt Married.

Friends in Maryville will be very much interested in the news of the marriage of Miss LaVeta Marie Awalt daughter of Mrs. Ethele Awalt of Fort Smith, Ark., and Mr. Loy C. Gibson, which took place last Saturday evening at Fort Smith. The bride is a granddaughter of Mrs. J. T. Linville of Maryville and has frequently visited here. The following account of the wedding is taken from last Sunday's edition of the Fort Smith, Ark., Southwest-Times Record:

The marriage of Miss LaVeta Marie Awalt, daughter of Mrs. Ethele Awalt, 419 North Eleventh street, and Mr. Loy C. Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Gibson, is announced.

The wedding took place Saturday evening at 10 o'clock, and was solemnized in the parlors of the Hotel Main, the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Donoghue. The parlors were decorated in cut flowers with a background of potted plants. Dr. W. L. Gilmore, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, read the wedding service.

The bride and bridegroom were attended by Mr. Gibson's sister, Miss Iris Gibson, and Mr. Garland King. Miss Gibson was charmingly gowned in an afternoon frock of wine color satin.

The party entered the parlor together and took their places in front of the piano which had been banked in ferns to mark the place of ceremony.

The bride was lovely in a costume of brown georgette crepe, modishly designed on the ultra-smart new lines of the moment, and worn over a slip of orange satin. Her accessories continued the all brown note in pheasant and darker hues. Her corsage bouquet was a conventional arrangement of bride's roses and lillies of the valley.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Gibson went to apartments on North Sixth street, where they will go to house-keeping.

The wedding is one of the interesting events of the month. The bride is a comparatively new resident of the city. She formerly was a Joplin, Mo., and El Paso, Texas girl. Since coming with her mother, Mrs. Ethele Awalt, to reside in Fort Smith, she has taken her place as one of the charming girls in a coteria of young women with whom she is popular. Mr. Gibson, manager of the Hughes Shoe company, is a well-known young business man.

Strong-Hinton Wedding.

The marriage of Miss Helen Beatrice Strong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Omer Strong of Pickering, to Harold Hinton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinton of Pickering, took place yesterday afternoon in St. Joseph. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. J. P. Alsup of Maryville in the Y. M. C. A. parlors. The bride was attired in brown chenile brocade with hat and other accessories to match. The couple was accompanied by the bridegroom's sister, Miss Hildred Hinton of Pickering, and Robert Jones of St. Joseph. Mr. and Mrs. Hinton arrived in Maryville today and were the guests of honor at a dinner given by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Strong at their home on South Market street this noon. The bride's parents were additional guests. Mrs. Hinton was graduated from the Pickering High School in the class of 1923. They will be at home on a farm, east of Pickering, upon completion of their new home in a few months.

A miscellaneous shower was given last night by a party of fifty-three relatives and friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nickerson, near Burlington Junction, complimentary to their son and his bride, Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Nickerson. Various games and music were the diversions for the evening and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Mr. and Mrs. Nickerson were married Friday night, September 18, at the home of the former's cousins, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Nickerson, in St. Joseph. The Rev. Isaac Elder, pastor of Mitchell Park Christian Church, read the single ring service. The bride, formerly Miss Della Glenn, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Glenn, living near Burlington Junction. For the present the couple will be at home with the bridegroom's parents.

nant when he saw his apparatus this morning. He said that this pole was made in Germany out of a special steel composition and the original cost was $800 and it takes six months to get one duplicated.

It was given out authentically at noon that Mr. Curran, would put up his pole and give his free act stunt as usual, providing, however, that the weather holds good. Mr. Curran was willing to use the entire pole, the full seventy-five feet, but the Festival committee advised him that in order to take no useless risks he should leave off the ten-foot section, that is thought to be defective, caused by the fall.

Leo Knox, passing the Elks club at 1:30 o'clock this morning, reports that the pole was standing at that time.

Festival Fragments

If for no other purpose than directing traffic the need of extra police during the week has been shown. At the edge of the restricted districts where the streets are roped off to keep the vehicles out of the area occupied by the carnival shows, the extra men on the police force have been kept busy at times.

A big bank of black clouds rolled up from the west about 6:30 o'clock last night—and rolled away to the north, the sky clearing up as prettily as any summer night and the moon held full sway during the evening's frolic. But it was opined by many that many from the rural districts were kept at home by the threatening aspects of the clouds earlier in the evening.

The American Legion dance at the W. O. W. hall was running to capacity the biggest part of last evening. The dance will run the rest of the week.

Interparliamentary Union Opens World Convention at Capital Oct. 1

By Kenneth Clark
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Washington, Sept. 30.—For the first time since 1904, the United States will be host to the Inter-Parliamentary Union. The meetings will be held in the House of Representatives from October 1 to October 7. Practically all the leading nations of the world will have delegates.

The main object of the Union is to encourage settlement of international disputes through arbitration instead of war. But since its inception, many other subjects have drifted into the Union's agenda, such, for instance, as limitation of armaments, international law, neutrality, laws of war, establishment of an international prize court and treatment of foreigners in alien countries.

Sessions Wide Open.

This year, according to program made public today, the sessions will be wide open for discussion of international relations, and indications point to the most fulsome session in history.

One of the most important of the new epics is that relating to responsibility for wars of aggression. Others include codification of international law, the problem of national authorities, further reduction of armament, security pacts, the drug traffic, a universal language and customs treaties among nations of the world.

These questions will be discussed by such noted statesmen as Elihu Root, of New York; Brann, of Germany; Spears of Great Britain; La Fontaine of Belgium, and Pelia, of Rumania.

From a meeting in 1888 between the French and British Parliaments the union has grown rapidly, until today it draws representatives from 34 nations.

The second session was held in Paris in 1899, in whic hthe United States, Belgium, Denmark, Great Britain, Spain, France, Liberia, Italy and Hungary participated. Since then it has met annually except when prevented by war.

Much admittedly has been done by the Union to smooth over international ill-feeling and to lay the groundwork for arbitration of international disputes. Many of the objects of the Union were incorporated in The Hague conferences, and later in the League of Nations. It has been said that Woodrow Wilson secured many of his ideas for the League from the agenda and discussions and recommendations of the inter-parliamentary body.

Co-operation Sought.

A further achievement of the Union has been the making possible of freer and more amicable intercourse between members of the world's legislative bodies. In this way has been built up a spirit of co-operation and appreciation of what each nation is undertaking in a legislative way to promote its citizens' interests.

Not all sessions of the Union, however, have been free from bitterness and recrimination. The discussions frequently have been filled with heated argument.

An attempt to head off any ill feeling this year was taken when the American State department barred from this country Shapurji Saklatvala, British M. P., an avowed communist and delegate to the Union. Saklatvala has filled the records of the British House of Commons with attacks upon "British imperialism," particularly in reference to the government of India.

Two of the leading British delegates announced they would NOT come to the United States if the Parsee were admitted. Action by Secretary of State Kellogg, for which he assumed full responsibility, was understood to have been taken at the direct sugges- tion of the British Home Office, powerless itself to bar Saklatvala.

Saklatvala's barring, however, may not have ended with the State Department's decision, it was indicated today. Some of the delegates were understood to be ready to discuss the case publicly here, advocating even the views which led to the peremptory order against Saklatvala.

An elaborate program of entertainment has been provided by the United States.

Parnell Defeats Sheridan.

The Parnell High School girls basketball team defeated the Sheridan girls team at Sheridan last night by a score of 34 to 2.

Harry Brunk, living two miles north of Quitman, was taken to the Missouri Methodist Hospital in St. Joseph Monday. He underwent an operation for appendicitis today. His condition is satisfactory.

Says People in Nodaway County Believe in Doing Things Just a Little Bit Better

"You people up in Nodaway County have a love for doing things just a little better," is the statement of Jewell Mayes, secretary of the Missouri Resources Museum Commission, in a letter to the Chamber of Commerce. His letter is in reply to eighteen colored pictures of Nodaway County farms that were sent to Jefferson City by the Maryville Chamber of Commerce to be installed in the state museum. His letter is as follows:

Jefferson City, Mo.,
September 28th, 1925

"To the Chamber of Commerce,
"Maryville, Mo.
"Gentlemen:

"It gives us great pleasure to thank you formally for the Missouri Resources Museum Commission for the gift of eighteen colored photos of farms in Nodaway County. We believe we have never received any more beautifully tinted enlargements of farm scenes in the United States. I know this has represented a great deal of labor to those who executed the work. The evident taste in artistry bespeaks a gentleman from Indiana, Illinois or Iowa, rather than Missouri, and we have been noticing that the people up in Nodaway County have a love for doing things just a little better than some of us.

"We are going to give you the space that has been furnished for one of the professors at the University for his enlarged photographs of bugs and at any time the Nodaway County artist or Chamber of Commerce finds occasion to furnish more pictures of this sort, we will feel obliged to go on giving them more space, because these are too good to be denied.

"It may be well to put with these views all the Nodaway County school floats, which are alrady on exhibit. On second thought, I believe a division of the live stock pictures to the live stock canopy swing frame fixture, in order that live stock enthusiasts may not overlook your red and white beauties and black and white 'diners.'

"Any time some of your representatives are down this way, we shall be glad to have their suggestions about improvement of installation, and we are also going to consult Mr. George A. Pickens of the Missouri Association in setting up the group.

"The above token of your esteem in our new proposition of developing a state museum is heartily appreciated.

"Gratefully and sincerely,
"Missouri Resources
"Museum Commission
"By Jewell Mayes, Secretary."

TO INSPECT FIRE HAZARDS

TO OBSERVE FIRE PREVENTION WEEK, STARTING SUNDAY.

OFFERS SUGGESTIONS

Fire Prevention Week Is Designed For Educational Purposes—Should Watch Defective Chimneys.

In accordance with a proclamation from the state chief executive's office, the Maryville Fire Department will observe the fifteenth annual Fire Prevention week, which commences next Sunday, according to Burt M. Rowley, fire chief, this morning.

Chief Rowley said this morning that he, with the chief of police, will make inspections during the week of cellars and attics which might be considered fire hazards, halls and places where rubbish is allowed to accumulate, and advises that such fire hazards be cleaned up.

Fire prevention week is designed for educational purposes and the fire department and local fire prevention committee will co-operate in making this week a success. A list of suggestions calculated to keep down fire losses is offered by the fire department:

Watch the disposal of matches and lighted smoking materials. They are responsible for a heavier loss than any other cause. Always keep matches out of reach of small children.

Use proper fuses in electrical circuits. The fuse is the safety valve of the system and should not be tampered with.

Turn off electrical irons and other electrical devices while attending to something else.

Gasoline and other volatile liquids make dangerous cleaning fluids. Many safe compounds are on the market.

Defective chimneys and flues cause about $20,000,000 loss each year. Keep them clean and in repair.

A gas leak should be hunted with a flashlight instead of with an open-flame light. To the suspected part of a pipe apply soap suds, which in bubbling will reveal the leak.

Clean all smoke pipes before the winter comes. Clogged pipes overheat easily and may start a fire when the furnace is operated.

Walls, ceilings and partitions should be shielded from over-heating of stoves, furnaces and connecting pipes.

Oil lamps, or stoves, are safely filled only by daylight.

Debate Club Under Its Own Management

The Debating Club of the Maryville High School will be sponsored throughout the year by student leadership. Unable to obtain a sponsor, the members of the club will direct the work under their own system. The officers of the organization will have much responsibility of the debate work in co-operation with the members. This is the first organization to direct its work under student leadership.

Ralph Graves is president of the organization and Miss Edwyna Forsyth is the vice-president. William Spoor was elected, this morning, as secretary and treasurer of the club to fill the office left vacant by Ned Swinford.

Homer Ogden returned Sunday morning from a motor trip to Long Beach, Cal., where he visited at the home of his aunt, Mrs. C. H. Stanley, and family, for six weeks.

LOWDEN SAYS FARMERS NEED ORGANIZATION.

CO-OPERATION NEEDED

Former Governor Of Illinois Points Out That Conditions Of Agriculture Are Better Now.

Atlantic City, N. J., (Sept. 30 (United Press).—The increase in the American farmers' income during the past year has utterly failed to solve the fundamental farm problem, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, declared today in an address before the American Bankers Association Convention here.

Nothing could be further from the truth, he said, than the claim that better prices proved "that the situation upon the farm was righting itself."

Only by organization within itself for the marketing of products and for other common ends could agriculture cure the economic ills that still afflict it, regain its rightful place in a highly organized world and restore the proper balance between itself and other business activities, Lowden said.

"Though farm conditions are somewhat better than they have been in recent years," he pointed out, "they by no means assure the future of the industry. The farm problem is not solved. It will be well for us if we recognize this fact."

Asserting that agriculture is sadly out of gear with the other parts of the economic structure, Lowden said that in an era in which progress is attained only through organization, the farmer has been the last to realize the value of organization for its own sake.

"In all other fields of commerce, unrestricted, free and open competition in the marketing of products has been gradually disappearing," he continued. "In all other industries there has been a growing tendency to stabilize prices, largely through the organization of a few great corporations which have taken the place of innumerable smaller independent units. In agriculture alone have the methods of marketing made no improvement, except as to the sale of those products which are now being marketed through cooperative associations."

In urging organization for farmers, Mr. Lowden said he did not mean that they should operate their farms through corporate management, but should work together for the solution of problems concerning the marketing of their products and the restoration of the proper relationship between the prices they receive for their products and the prices they pay for other commodities.

"Cooperative farm marketing associations are no longer an experiment," he said. "Wherever cooperatives have been employed, there you will find agriculture in its best estate. The farms are better improved and are kept in a higher state of cultivation and repair. I can forsee the day when everything produced upon the farm for market will be marketed by the farmers themselves through an organization of their own creation."

Missouri Farm Prices Up, Says Logan

Jefferson City, Sept. 30.—Missouri farmers are receiving better returns for nearly all classes of farm products than a year ago. This was brought out in an agricultural report issued by E. A. Logan of the United States bureau of agricultural economics and Jewell Mayes of the state board of agriculture.

The report also disclosed that in September of this year meat animals, cows, mules and wool were quoted lower than in August. Corn, wheat most farm seeds and oats also lowered in September, while fruits, vegetables and dairy and poultry products showed as good or better prices than a month ago. The general tendency of many products bought by farmers was down in September.

Comparing September, 1925, with September, 1924, all livestock and livestock products were higher except milk cows, horses and mules. Wheat and rye are higher than a year ago, but corn and oats are lower. Hay reflects the short crop of this year and is higher. Fruits and vegetables are higher except apples and tomatoes. Dairy products are all higher, poultry prices are up, but eggs are priced lower than last September.

Clover and timothy seed and kafir corn are higher than a year ago. Alfalfa seed, cowpeas and soy beans are lower.

GOOD DISPOSITIONS INVALUABLE

You can't watch your disposition too carefully. A crab and a grouch are rarely successful. If your liver and stomach are in an unhealthy condition you can not have a sunny disposition because they affect the brain as well as the entire system. Mayr's Wonderful Remedy has been usually successful in such cases. Our advice to everyone troubled in this way, especially when accompanied with bloating in the stomach, is to try this remedy. It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Harmony

School Notes.

We played a non-conference game of basket ball with the team of the Sheridan High School Friday evening, September 25. Neither team appeared very good on shooting goals, our own team doing lamentably poor work. Sheridan won the game and drew first blood as well. A return game will be played later in the season.

Second orchestra rehearsal and practice was held last Tuesday, despite the fact that it rained all day. Only one pupil was absent, though several failed to bring their instruments on account of the rain.

Tennis courts were pretty wet last week.

Ross Edwards was an all day visitor at the High School last Wednesday. He also acted as referee in the Harmony-Sheridan game Friday.

Frances Willard Day will be observed by the individual schools this year in place of a union program by all the schools; the short time and difficulty of securing material makes this method seem advisable.

Superintendent C. A. Hunt, and Mr. Finley, principal of the Sheridan School accompanied the basketball boys of that place, here for the game last Friday.

Dr. Fryer, Miss Davison, Miss Cramer and Miss Bertha Parrish, all of the County Health Department inspected all pupils of the grades last Thursday, all the schools coming to the High School where the work was done. With but few exceptions all were present and it required a full day's work. Dr. Fryer expressed himself as highly gratified at the improvement in health standards over the preceding inspection.

Examination revealed the fact that many of the school children have never been vaccinated for smallpox. Dr. Freyer exaggerated that a clinic could be held here to do this work if there was a demand for it. What do you say?

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Brown were trading in Maryville last Saturday.

"Stick up" men robbed the Orrsburg central last Friday evening, obtaining $25 from a brother-in-law of Edd Mann, who was visiting there. It is suspected that local talent is responsible for the crime. Later reports are that the parties were caught at Hamburg, Ia., Saturday evening.

Mrs. J. Flanary, who was confined to her bed several days last week with an attack of intestinal "flu" is much better at present.

E. E. Saunders filled his silo last Thursday. The soft condition of the corn fields is making this kind of work difficult to accomplish. In fact, all work on the farm is in suspense until the fields harden up a little.

We are glad to report that J. F. Flanary, infant son of Edgar Flanary is recovering from his severe illness.

We learned long ago that the biggest part of the problem consists of getting people to realize that all Used Cars and all Used Car dealers aren't alike. And it isn't a problem at all!

LA FOLLETTE TO CARRY ON

Only Thirty, He Will Be the Youngest Man in the Senate—Wins By Landslide Yesterday

Washington, Sept. 30—A father's dying hope was fulfilled yesterday with the election of Robert Marion La Follette, Jr., to the United States Senate.

Among the last feeble words of the late Senator La Follette, for forty years a belligerent in the nation's political arena, were just these two: "Carry on."

They were spoken softy to the family which gathered about the bedside as life slipped slowly from the aging figure. In that group was "Young Bob," dry-eyed, quiet, attentive. The words were directed to him who had been his father's favorite, and closest political adviser during the latter years.

Fitted Son for Job

It was "Bob" whom Senator La Follette had trained, and helped and prayed would "carry on" to the Senate, in the footpaths he had followed, to the work he had attempted but left undone.

Senator La Follette had a premonition that the end was not far distant. And so he gave his last days to fitting "Bob" for the work at hand, to lead the fight, as he called it, "to free the people from the iron heel of special privilege in Government."

Now "Bob" has come from his father's grave to the Senate, there to "carry on."

The present membership of the Senate may never quite get used to calling him "Senator La Follette." These men have known him for years as "Bob," and have seen him, a youthful looking youth, day after day helping his father, on the floor, in the office, in conference.

The Senate always thought of him as "just a youngster," secretary of of his father, to be sure, but still, a boy.

And "Bob" is young—he's only 30, barely old enough to slip into the Senate under the age limitations. He was born in Madison, Feb. 6, 1895. He used to sit on the knees of many of the men who now hail him as a colleague in the nation's highest legislative tribunal.

In Father's Shadow.

People had a way of underrating "Bob," because he was obscured by his father's eminence. The Republican national committee regarded him somewhat as an echo of paternal greatness, rather than a dynamic little figure with a marked personality of his own—until "Bob" snowed under the "stalwart" candidate in the election. Now they are reckoning him in an altogether different light, not as "heir apparent," but as actual leader of that militant progressive group in the Senate which for so many years under the elder La Follette was a thorn in the side of the Administration.

"Bob" is going to follow closely in the work his father started, but he isn't going to ape his sire; he's not the sort who would try that, an imitation, by the way, which usually is paste rather than pearl to the aspirant.

There was little in his earlier life to distinguish him from thousands of other boys in Washington—he attended one of the local high schools and was neither a good nor a bad student. He attended the University of Wisconsin for three years. His father was in the midst of his fights over the war. Old friends had turned against him—the war hysteria was swinging into full force. The "old man," as familiarly the elder La Follette was called, turned to Bob for help and solace. That ended the youngster's college career. From that day on the two were inseparable, in work, in play.

The boy's rise was rapid in the intimate circle surrounding the family. He became secretary to his father, and did much of the work that tiring hands found increasingly more hazardous. He fought through the Wisconsin Senatorial campaign in 1922, when the Old Guard was out "to get" the "old man." For the landslide victory that followed La Follette gave his son great credit. "Bob" was elected chairman of the State Republican organization.

But in all these years it was not until the Cleveland Progressive Convention that "Bob" made his first public appearance. He merely read his father's acceptance of the Presidential nomination, but he did it so well that few would have believed he was NOT a finished speaker.

ERASES WRINKLES IN LESS THAN 15 MINUTES

Scientists have at least taken up seriously the problem of removing wrinkles and age lines. Many experiments have been made. The result indicates that the "tarkroot method" is the best because it produces immediate results with perfect safety and comfort. It consists merely in spreading over the face a mixture of powdered tarkroot, one spoonful, and lemon juice, one spoonful. In your mirror ,before your very eyes, you can watch the wrinkles and sagginess literally melt away—in less than 15 minutes!

The sensation from this brief treatment is most refreshing. The effect is far better than that produced by the most expert massage. Tarkroot is so harmless you could eat it. And the cost per treatment is trifling—less than three cents when purchased in the original package at any drug store.

ROOFING

Roof now with a "Northwest" fireproof ornamental roof. We contract these roofs applied. Do not remove the old wooden shingles. We can lay a better roof over old wooden shingles than can be laid over new tight sheathing boards. Let us explain in person how and why. We have been laying this type of roof covering for twenty-five years and are highly specialized in it. Our materials are manufactured especially for over-shingle application. Our roofing mechanics do nothing but roof over old shingles, year after year, and are therefore expert and efficient. We lay a "tailored" roof. Every detail is cared for in that finished manner and builds into your home an architectural beauty and quiet dignity that will always be a source of satisfacton to you.

Every property owner that we have served is satisfied. You will be equally so.

We will be in Maryville only a comparatively short time this trip with our roofing mechanics. NOW is an opportunity to get a high-class, moderate priced, ornamental fireproof roof applied by men who know how, by a company that is responsible, and be protected by an unqualified guarantee that makes you absolutely safe. A roof is a combination of good materials and skilled workmanship. We supply both and stand back of the completed construction. No divided responsibility. We do every bit of work that is necessary, and then guarantee the work accordingly.

Materials, mechanics and contracting agents are at your service. Let us give you an estimate of the cost of such a roof, and show you our materials. There is no obligation to buy, and we will consider it a favor to show our products.

We do not only roof the house but apply new valley material, new hip and ridge material, paint and point chimneys where needed, paint gutters, decks and porches, do a first-class and thorough job in every manner, and then stand back of it as a complete job.

"Northwest" roofs are sold either for cash or on easy terms. Their quality is unsurpassed, their appearance beautiful and their cost surprisingly low.

Roof N-O-W!

Prince of Wales in Gallery Seat at Show

London, Sept. 30 (United Press).—London's clubdom is chuckling over an escapade of the Prince of Wales recently revealed in a newspaper devoted to club gossip.

Ever democratic and unconventional the Prince decided to pay an informal visit to a popular revue. Instead of heading for the box office, the Prince followed the dictates of his heart and lined up on the sidewalk among the hundreds waiting for cheap seats—an old British custom.

His dress was not of his usual immaculate style. An old lounge suit sufficed. His associates failed to recognize Royalty in their midst.

As is customary where crowds mingle conversation did not drag. The Prince soon became engaged in talk with his nearest companion—a "gallerytte." The subjects discussed ranged from philosophy to engineering.

During one of the intervals in the show they both retired to the bar, where the Prince was treated to England's national beverage—a glass of ale.

The sequel came when the orchestra played "God Save the King." The Prince stood stiffly to attention. His companion bowed solemnly to the Heir Apparent. The Prince's informal evening was at an end.

President Wilson on the Next Stamp

Washington, Sept. 30.—The portrait of the late President Wilson will be placed on a postage stamp just as soon as the occasion arises for a new stamp, it was announced at the White House yesterday.

Some embarrassment has been caused President Coolidge by criticism of the postoffice department's recent rejection of a plan sponsored by friends of the late President to place immediately his profile on a governmental stamp, as it was intimated by Wilson followers politics was behind the refusal.

In denying any such motives today it was pointed out at the White House President Cleveland's profile was placed on a stamp only within the last two years.

Mrs. James Thompson and daughter, Ardice, Mrs. J. E. Huff, Mrs. Hattie Edwards and son and Mr. and Mrs. Brice Hall of Wilcox were Maryville visitors today.

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Sept. 30.—Under late liquidation, grains dropped sharply on the Board of Trade today. Spot corn led in the decline and this had natural reflection on all commodities.

Drastic changes in form that sent wheat prices tumbling came after midsession. Vacillation of sentiment among active traders made the market susceptible to the slightest change in news.

Yesterday's shorts were best sellers in spot corn. They had more than enough for delivery on contracts today.

Oats registered insignificant price changes.

Provisions weakness was attributed to heavy acceptances by packers and lower grains.

Ancient Mound Builders Hghly Civilized, According to Latest Ohio Excavations

By C. B. YORKE.

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chillicothe, O., Sept. 30 (United Press).—The discovery of a piece of colored cloth, presumably a shroud or robe, has given the scientific world one of the richest proofs of the advanced state of civilization of the ancient Ohio mound builders.

The discovery was made by Professor H. C. Shetrone, Curator of the Ohio Archeological Museum, during the excavation of the largest mound in the Seip group near here.

There are other smaller mounds in the group, all of which were once surrounded by an earthen wall. Parts of the wall, eight feet in height, are still standing. The wall extended for miles.

The skeletons of four mound builders have been found in the Seip mound, the only one that has been opened. They were surrounded by thousands of pearls, some of them as large as the end of a man's thumb. The pearls were decomposed.

"The manner of burial indicates these persons were of royal lineage," Professor Shetrone said.

Four large ceremonial pipes, tortoise shell ornaments, button shaped objects and implements of meteoric iron were also found.

The piece of cloth has been preserved in its original colors through the ages, having been placed between two copper breast plates. The colors are maroon, tan and black, evidence of the use of colors by prehistoric man.

How many skeletons remain in the heart of the mound, only a fourth of which has been excavated, Professor Shetrone, with a scientist's reserve, refused to speculate. The possibilities are rich, he admitted.

The Seip mound is one of nearly 6,000 mounds in Ohio. Work of excavation was begun August 10. Professor Shetrone is now preparing to close the mounds for the winter. Because of lack of funds work cannot be continued although the season would permit work for two more months. Work will be resumed in June, Shetrone said.

Shetrone accounts for the presence of so many bodies in one grave by the "Feast of the Dead." This tribe of mound builders hung the bodies of their dead on tree limbs as they died during the year. Once a year there was a burial and with much ceremony the notables of the tribe were laid together in the enduring sepulchre.

Bowles Is Chosen to Congress Seat

Springfield, Mass., Sept. 30.—Henry L. Bowles of Springfield, Republican, was elected to congress from President Coolidge's home district over Roland D. Sawyer of Ware, Democrat, in the special election yesterday to choose a successor to the late George B. Churchill of Amherst.

The vote was: Bowles 12,702; Sawyer 9,067.

Bowles majority was 3,635.

Bowles held a consistent lead through the district. A light vote was cast.

The campaign was marked by heated attacks on the administration by the Democratic candidate. Mr. Sawyer, a clergyman, had a platform of light wines and beer, while Mr. Bowles declared for revision of the Volstead law.

Coach Lawrence Writes of Cage Season in M. I. A. A. for Reach Basketball Guide

"Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association," written by H. Frank Lawrence, director of athletics at the local Teachers College, appears in the 1925-26 issue of Reach Official Basketball guide, which was just received here today from the Reach people at Philadelphia.

His article is as follows:

"The 1925 season of the Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association was up to its usual high standard in every way. The class of basketball displayed ranked with the best in the State; the championship laurels falling to the Central State Teachers College at Warrensburg, a team coached by T. A. Reid, and one which richly deserved the honors that were won.

"Out of the eight conference games the Warrensburg crew was defeated only once, losing to Cape Girardeau Indians in the first game, only to trounce them decisively at their next meeting. Hutson, star forward of the Miles, was off form on the first night, not scoring a field goal. He was the deciding factor in all the other games. Warrensburg defeated Springfield twice at Warrensburg, Kirksville twice at Kirksville, won one and lost one with Cape Girardeau at Warrensburg, and won two games from Maryville at Maryville.

"Cape Girardeau, with the best team they have had in years, finished second, Maryville and Springfield tied for third, and Kirksville finished last.

"The writer not seeing all of the games is forced to forego a summary of each game. * * * *

"It is not fair for one man to pick an All-State team. However, due to that fact that the opinion of the other coaches and officials cannot be had at this time, the following selection is placed befor you in this article. Judging by the play of the men against his team, the choice is as follows:

First Team

Second Team

"The reasons for selecting these men may be found in the following summary. Hutson and Peoples were high point men of the conference. Hutson, without doubt, was the classiest of all forwards that competed. The choice between Davis, Ramsey, James and Peoples was a hard one. Some may consider me prejudiced in selecting Peoples, but when one considers that he averaged a little better than six field goals a game, it is rather hard to keep him out of select company. He scored 199 points during the season, in spite of the fact that during the first road trip he was in a decided slump. Ramsey gets the other forward position, with little choice between him and Davis.

"No center in the conference was up to the standard of Soph. He was a good shot, an expert at passing, and his blocking and floor work of the best. Colwell, of Kirksville, although his playing part of the time at forward, was next to Soph in effectiveness, and although he might have played most of the time at center, is too valuable a man to ignore.

"There is no hesitancy in placing Smith at guard. He is without doubt a great guard. His playing showed both speed, ability and mental alertness, and there was no player who could out-figure him. Kiehne of Cape Girardeau, is picked as the other guard because of an uncanny eye for the basket, coupled with good floor work. McDonald of Warrensburg gets a position because of his general effectiveness; his defensive work being just the margin needed for the Mules to pull over the hill. Davis of Springfield, although a forward, is placed at a guard position due to the fact that he is a real basketball player and cannot be let off. His style of playing forward is a great deal like that of a floor guard and he would fit nicely in this position. With practically all men back in each school, 1926 looks to be a season of fast basketball. Each school regrets the departure of Coach Reid of Warrensburg, who goes to Kansas University. However, all extend a welcome hand to his successor."

Local Golfers Lose in Assn. Tournament

The three Maryville golfers who entered the annual golf tournament of the Missouri-Iowa Association, being held at Shenandoah, Ia., this week, have been eliminated, according to the yesterday's Shenandoah Sentinel-World.

In the first round of the championship flight E. M. Grindstaff of Clarinda defeated Dr. H. S. Dowell 3 up and 2. J. L. Crone of Shenandoah defeated Forrest Gillam 6 up and 4; while in the first round of the Second Flight, O. M. Watkins put up a stubborn battle but lost to F. I. Freeborn of Corning by score of 1 down on the nineteenth hole.

H. B. Garrison of Shenandoah defeated O. M. Watkins in the consolations.

In the consolations M. E. McDonnell of Shenandoah defeated Doctor Dowell and W. S. Sackett of Red Oak defeated Forrest Gillam.

Gene Vaughan, Shenandoah, low medalist, was eliminated by Lyman Turner of Red Oak, giving the Southmoreland Club of Shenandoah one of the biggest jolts of the tournament. E. M. Grindstaff, who eliminated Doctor Dowell went into the finals by defeating Ben Brower of Shenandoah 4 up and 4 yesterday afternoon. He plays either Turner of Red Oak or Crone of Shenandoah this afternoon. Brower is considered one of the outstanding players in the association.

Clark on "Tiger" Squad at Columbia

Bertram Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Clark of Chillicothe, former residents of Maryville, is showing up well on the 1925 "Tiger" squad of the University of Missouri.

Reporting last Saturday's practice of the university football team, the Columbia Missourian says:

"On the kick-off Clark ran the ball nearly 40 yards and several minutes later, after several other plays had been tried, he carried the ball over for the second touchdown. Again the line-up was changed by replacing the first selection and throughout the rest of the practice, Coach Henry was busy sending players in and out of the game.

"The practice Saturday afternoon was pleasing to the coaches, said Clark, who played at quarterback on last year's Freshman team, showed enough clever football Saturday to win a position among the first string it is believed. He has speed, coupled with drive."
